

GMA Rural Broadband Summit

GMA will host a one-day statewide Rural Broadband Summit to share information with local officials about rural broadband planning in Georgia.

Participants will learn from experts and peers about:

- Cultivating a broadband planning approach that engages stakeholders and mitigates risks
- Accessing federal agency resources for technical assistance and infrastructure.

Through the session, participants will obtain a roadmap for planning a broadband infrastructure project. The meeting is ideal for municipal and county elected and appointed officials including mayors, county commissioners, city and county managers, city and county clerks, public works staff, and city and county attorneys.
