

Law Enforcement Legal Update: Case Law Impacting Law Enforcement Operations

Jack Ryan, Attorney

LGRMS, a service organization of the ACCG and GMA will sponsor an Annual Law Enforcement and Legal Liability update program in three locations in Georgia this November 2016 (see scheduled dates below). This all-day program will satisfy requirements for Six Georgia POST Credit hours and Six Executive Credit hours for Heads of Agencies. This program will feature well-known speaker Jack Ryan. This course is targeted toward Law Enforcement Leadership, Command Staffs, Supervisors, and Officers in general. It is also appropriate for Civilian leadership in cities and counties that deal with the liability issues, litigation, and cost of law enforcement operations.

Course Objectives:

Over the last two decades law enforcement agencies and individual law enforcement officers in the United States have been the subject of intense public scrutiny. The litigious condition of American society has been a key factor in this scrutiny. The very nature of police work i.e., use of force; high-speed driving and pursuits; and arrest, lends itself to complaints and lawsuits from those who law enforcement officers have contact with.

Law enforcement officers must have a working knowledge of developing laws relating to police liability and discipline. Officers must be aware that they may be held accountable for decisions made by a court having jurisdiction over them. It is the developing law that guides police training, operations, individual conduct, and operations. A failure to recognize the importance of this area of the law can lead to serious monetary consequences for individual police officers, supervisors, police executives, and police agencies as a whole. In extreme cases, a failure to follow the rules set forth by the courts can result in criminal sanctions.

This training is structured to assist officers and agencies in assessing their particular level of risk-exposure by examining court decisions that have interpreted acceptable standards of conduct by officers.
