November, The Month We Networked!

November went by fast! Apart from the extended weekend that gave us a much needed repose from studio projects, ASLA Student Chapter at UF maintained an active roll in the College of Design Construction and Planning: Traveling to Chicago for the National Conference, Volunteering during the DCP 90th Anniversary Alumni BBQ, Assisting PopGNV bring the last Pop up park of the year to Downtown Gainesville, Speaking with adviser Glenn Acomb to lay out strategies for student ASLA competition submittals, and two of our members, Jeff Haviland and Daniel Rodriguez along with 12 interdisciplinary students, proposed a new plan for Gainesville's tent city, Dignity Village. With the end of the semester at hand we think its time to reflect, relax and rethink ways we can contribute more to our college and community.

DCP 90th Anniversary

We cleaned, we printed, we served delicious BBQ, but more importantly, we were able to share our similarities and differences with past and present

PopUp Park

An adventure playground that attracted families and curious bystanders alike. Shelby Harden, our 2015-16 chapter

Get Ready to Submit!

This month Glenn Acomb shared strategies and steps we need to take to submit projects for
