The OSHA silica rule went into effect last year and enforcement of the standard will begin soon. LIUNA is holding FREE workshops to bring you up to speed on the required work practices that will put you in compliance with the rule and keep employees safe.

Workshop Agenda

- 10:00 – Silica Workshop
- 12:00 – Lunch and Facility Tours

Are You Ready?

The new rule requires that employers do not expose workers to harmful dust containing silica. This workshop will cover ways to comply with the rule, including medical surveillance and training requirements.

What You'll Learn from Our Safety Professionals

- New exposure limits
- Compliance options
- Prohibited work practices
- Medical surveillance requirements
- Training requirements
- Competent Person requirements
- Monitoring requirements
- And more...

What You'll Walk Away With

- An understanding of OSHA's new silica rule
- A written exposure control plan
- Resources from the Laborers' Health & Safety Fund of North America
- A hands-on demonstration of compliant power saws, chipping tools, grinders and jackhammers
- Free access to our team of Industrial Hygienists and Safety Professionals

Who Would Benefit from This Workshop?

Contractors that work in concrete, concrete cutting, coring, drilling, demolition and even with cleaning up concrete dust should attend this seminar.
