About Baby Luke

Three-month-old Baby Luke has been diagnosed with B-cell acute lymphoblastic leukemia. Though he's receiving the best possible care at Los Angeles Children's Hospital, the family still needs all the help they can get. It could be another three months before Baby Luke can get a bone marrow transplant, and the hope is that Big Brother Jack will be a perfect match.

Baby Luke Oberlin is the grandson of PCOC President-Elect, Baron McDonald.

Geotech Supply's Fundraiser Luncheon for Baby Luke

Geotech Supply will be hosting a luncheon fundraiser event on March 24, 2017 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at its Sacramento office to help the family get closer to their $50,000 goal. Tri-Tip and Chicken will be served.

Entry into the luncheon will be $10 with all proceeds going directly to the family.

Donate Today

Luke's mom and dad, Paul and Kaeli, have set up a GoFundMe account which has already raised over $10,000. But we can't let it stop there-while Baby Luke's treatments are covered by health insurance the family still carries the burden of travel and lodging, lost wages, and more. All the proceeds from fundraising are going to the family to make sure they have everything they need to give Baby Luke his best fighting chance.

You can donate today by visiting gofundme.com/help-baby-luke-oberlin. Every little bit counts to help Baby Luke and his family get through these treatments.
