Don't let your budget prevent you from attending the premier multifamily housing industry event – the 2010 FAA Education Conference & Trade Show. With so much included in a Full Conference Registration, you won't have to break your budget to experience it all!

Bright Horizons Are In Your Future!

Here's what 2009 conference goers had to say...

"The FAA Conference is the highlight of our corporate year. ContraVest views the conference as an opportunity to bring all our managers in to share in the experience and education. It's a terrific team-building opportunity. The value of the Trade Show is immeasurable. Each year we are able to negotiate better deals for our properties, whether it be advertising, maintenance or software. In the end, it more than pays for itself. We include attendance at the FAA Educational Conference in every budget, every year...it's a "can't -miss!" - Christin Tenpenny, VP of Management Operations, ContraVest Management Company

"Due to its exceptional value, the FAA Education Conference is one event that will always be included in my property's budgets. Not only does this conference provide outstanding educational opportunities for my associates, it gives us the rare opportunity to network with industry leaders and innovators from all over the state and country." - Kellie Jackson, Regional Vice President Eastern Region, Milestone Management, L.P.

What's included in your Full Conference Registration – a $289* value for members?
