

Lanehub Announced as Finalist for Rise of the Rest Pitch Competition!

Lanehub is proud to announce we have been selected as one of 8 finalists to pitch for a chance to receive a $100,000 investment from Steve Case, Co-Founder of AOL. Below is an excerpt from an article written about Rise of the Rest.

"[Lanehub] is a prime example of Rise of the Rest's vision of innovation in legacy industries. Lanehub is a technology solution designed to help shippers and carriers match up and collaborate. Participating shippers and carriers enter their profiles in the platform, with information on their carriers and "lanes" of shipping. The information remains private, but Lanehub attempts to match up companies who might have complementary shipping lanes and carriers. The companies can then choose to communicate and share information that might help drive more efficient shipping schedules – more round-trip truckloads and fewer empty trucks."
