CPHB Celebrates 10 Year Anniversary

ATLANTA Dec. 3, 2007— The Certified Professional Home Builders (CPHB) Program is celebrating its 10 year anniversary on Dec. 10, 2007.

Along with the celebration, the CPHB Program will be known as CPHB of Georgia.

The CPHB program was founded on Dec. 10, 1997. That day approximately 400 builders attended the premier of the CPHB Program at the Housing Center.

For more information about the CPHB 10 year anniversary please contact Kim Jones, Director, The Housing Institute, Inc. at (678) 775-1462.

The Housing Institute, Inc., a non-profit subsidiary of The Greater Atlanta Home Association (HBA), promotes the highest standards of professionalism between the residential building industry and the community. THI administers the only voluntary builder certification program in the state of Georgia. Certified Professional Home Builders (CPHB) has made the investment to be professional by agreeing to adhere to set standards.
