

TMEPA Launches New Website

TMEPA is excited to launch our new website. The new site brings a modern look along with a better user interface. "This was a top priority when I was hired. We are very pleased with the finished product and the update features," said Brian Solsbee, Executive Director. The design process went extremely smooth utilizing David Lusky with BluSky Designs. David has long been a TMEPA Associate Member through Halo, Branded Solutions and understands the association. "David's efforts and creativity made the conversion seamless," said Solsbee.

Features

- Quick way to connect with our associate members with a complete listing of contact information
- News clips will continue to be posted daily
- Weekly legislative report saved in one location
- Online payments through paypal for any upcoming conferences
- Job board has been added as another free service for our utility membership to post jobs.

Also, TMEPA member documents such as bylaws, historical legislative reports, policies, etc. If you don't have a log in, please contact Susan Sherrill at susans@tmepa.org.

Please let us know if you have any suggestions to continue to improve our website www.tmepa.org.
