

We are nearing Budget Season! If you are stressing about finding the best contractors and vendors to bid on your 2016 capital projects you will want to attend the RVAA Trade Show and Expo on October 15th. If your budget is already complete, good job! You can also speak with contractors and vendors who can help make your day to day management of your property a bit easier. It's about the bottom line and our vendors are ready to speak with owners, managers, and maintenance teams about how they can help us keep that bottom line in line.
