In 1915, 30 enterprising papermakers gathered together, determined to form a new technical arm of the American Paper & Pulp Association (APPA). Their idea was to gather and disseminate information concerning matters that have to do with production. This forward-thinking group wanted to create a forum where information could be channeled and ideas could be exchanged. In less than a year, TAPPI was born, and 100 years later, their formula for success continues to work.

Our Roots Run Deep

TAPPI is a not-for-profit, volunteer-led association that is built around a community comprised of thousands of member engineers, managers, scientists, academics, suppliers and others from around the world. Our headquarters is located right outside of Atlanta, Georgia, USA. Members love to tour the building and see historic items such as early TAPPI Standards, issues of TAPPI publications dating back to the early 1920s or our unique collection of papermaking heirlooms. If you stop by, take a tour of our library and don't forget to walk out on the deck to see the legendary TAPPI totem pole, donated by our Pacific Local Section. Take a short walk down the halls and meet the TAPPI team and hear first-hand about some of the great things our members and volunteers are doing to support the TAPPI community.

Innovation

Our focus has always been on emerging technologies and driving innovation for the paper and packaging industry. Yet, we are so much more. Our growing international membership ranks include rising stars in bioenergy and biofuels, renewable chemicals, sustainability and nanotechnology areas.

We Set the Standard – Literally

As an ANSI-Certified Standards development organization, TAPPI’s peer-reviewed Standards ensure that products meet industry-recognized best practices. Our Standards not only demonstrate how to maximize performance, they provide new ideas and operational methods to improve production. Our members and volunteers drive the development of the Standards and TIPs that are used around the world.

Providing Quality Education

We provide premier educational resources to support the day-to-day duties of industry professionals, as well as research and academic pursuits. We do so by offering over 30 international conferences, symposia, and courses each year, and our IACET-approved status ensures quality, and continuous improvement, in all our event programs.

Fit to Print – Naturally!

When our members look for leading-edge news in the industry, they turn to us as the go-to resource. That’s because our targeted publications serve up the knowledge and news they need – tailored specifically to their areas of interest. There are 11 publications and specialty newsletters that are free with membership, including Paper360°, our flagship publication, Tissue360°, our newest offering, and TAPPI Journal, a peer-reviewed, scientific periodical covering key research and technology developments.

Power of TAPPI Members

We've never lost sight of what keeps us thriving - our incredibly talented community of members, volunteers and experts. Keeping them informed, engaged and energized is our goal. We provide an open forum for communication and an environment to cultivate relationships with some of the brightest minds in the industry. All backed by a rock solid antitrust compliance policy. Our members leverage the power of peer-to-peer connections and tap into the largest repository of technical industry information in the world.
RISI’S PPI MAGAZINE Merges with TAPPI’S Paper360°

RISI, the leading information provider for the global forest products industry, and TAPPI, the leading association for the worldwide pulp, paper, packaging, tissue and converting industries today announced the merger of RISI’s PPI Magazine with TAPPI’s Paper360° Magazine. This partnership will combine the industry’s two leading magazines covering global developments, trends and manufacturing innovation for the pulp and paper industry.

“Our members represent 66 countries and some of the leading paper and packaging companies from around the globe. They want to understand what’s going on worldwide. That’s why we are uniting the two most powerful magazines in the industry,” said Larry N. Montague, President and CEO, TAPPI.

“By partnering with TAPPI, we will combine the strengths of our organizations. Each publication covers different aspects of the market and together, we will provide a more complete and accurate view of the industry,” said Iain Murray, COO, RISI.

The co-branded magazine will continue to be managed by TAPPI. RISI will provide editorial support with content such as popular features: Top 50 Powerlist, Top 100 paper manufacturers, PPI Awards coverage, and market trends and viewpoints.

“This partnership with RISI enables us to further our mission of providing premier educational and information resources that support the advancement of industry professionals. Our combined resources will enable us to provide an even better balance of business and technical content for our readers,” said Montague.

The merging of Pulp & Paper International magazine into Paper360° provides advertisers a wealth of benefits including:

• The combined strength of the industry’s two leading publications.
• An even better balance of business and technical content
• The strongest editorial strength of any global publication.
• The opportunity to focus ads in a single publication for strength of frequency.
• The continuation of great PPI articles such as Top 50 Power List, Top 100 Global Manufacturers, PPI Awards coverage, and market trends and viewpoints
• Distribution of your message to the broadest international circulation list.
• Editorial backed by the strength of both TAPPI and RISI.

Combined, the organizations bring over 200 years of publishing experience to the joint effort. An international editorial staff comprised of editors, engineers and economists will continue to deliver relevant and timely content from a global perspective.
Regularly cited as the top benefit for TAPPI members, Paper360° and its partner publications, websites and eNewsletters provide the pulp and paper industry with a business resource to reach top global buyers, influencers and specifiers in print and online.

THE TISSUE INDUSTRY

The global paper tissue and towel industry has experienced steady, sustained growth since the 1950s, especially in North America, Europe, and now China. In the mid to late 1990s, the tissue sector expanded into Asia (particularly China) and South America. As standards of living and disposable incomes increased in these areas, so did the demand for paper tissue, which ultimately lead to the acceleration of production in the paper tissue and towel industry. In the past decade, China has grown from almost no tissue production capacity to more than half that of the U.S. today, and is projected to take the global lead within the next decade.

NORTH AMERICA ACCOUNTS FOR MORE THAN 24% OF GLOBAL CONSUMPTION AND PRODUCTION.

PRODUCTION

CONSUMPTION

WORLD DEMAND FOR TISSUE IS FORECAST TO GROW BY 2.9% PER YEAR, TO 50 MILLION TONS BY 2030.

Note: Rest of Asia includes Middle East and other Asia excl. Japan and China. Other regions comprise Africa and Oceania.
