

McLeod Home Building Centre in Spruce Grove, Alberta Celebrates 100 Years in the Hardware Business

Spruce Grove, AB, September 7, 2016 – McLeod Home Building Centre in Spruce Grove, Alberta is marking a major milestone this week. The McLeod family has been serving the community’s home improvement needs for 100 years. Their hardware store has earned the distinction of the oldest business in town and that kind of longevity doesn’t happen by accident.

“Our exceptional customer service and our very loyal and dedicated staff are the secrets to our success,” explains Wilson McLeod, Dealer-Owner, McLeod Home Building Centre. “We treat people the way we would want to be treated. As a family-owned business we’ve been able to pass on those traits from one generation to the next.”

William (Bill) McLeod first opened up shop in 1916 on Main Street as McLeod Mercantile Ltd. It began selling dry goods, hardware and groceries and has now grown to become a 7,500-square-foot Home Building Centre on South Avenue. The store as it exists today also features 20,000 square feet of warehouse space, a huge seven acre contractor lumber yard and extensive product selection, all with the same high-quality service the McLeod family is known for.

As the hardware business turns 100 years old, the McLeods are celebrating their past and focusing on the future, with no plans to slow down anytime soon.

To thank customers for their continued patronage, McLeod Home Building Centre is hosting a 3-day Anniversary Sale running from September 8 to September 10, 2016, offering discounts of up to 50% off on a wide selection of products.
