

Ply Gem Donates Vinyl Siding for Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta Homes

Company associates to install siding as part of a volunteer build on Saturday, Sept. 17, 2016

Ply Gem[®] (NYSE: PGEM), a leading North American manufacturer and distributor of building products with Canadian headquarters in Calgary, is continuing its longstanding support of Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta with a siding product donation and volunteer efforts for Calgary's Pineridge Place neighborhood on 25th Avenue.

The company donated Mitten by Ply Gem vinyl siding to outfit six four-plex homes. Additionally, as part of the Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta volunteer day Saturday, six Ply Gem associates will be on site to help build the home.

The Pineridge donation is the latest in a series of Ply Gem contributions in the last five years to Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta, which include siding for 28 homes and 30 doors and more than 80 windows for two multiplexes.

The Pineridge build is a 2 ½-year project. One four-plex home has already been finished and is occupied; another is scheduled for completion at the end of October; and a third is scheduled to be move-in ready in spring 2017. The remaining three four-plex homes will be started next year with wrap-up expected in 2018.

"The dedication and commitment to our community is part of the Ply Gem culture. Giving back – through time and materials – gives our associates a sense of pride in knowing that they are helping families have a place they can call their own," said John Vukanovich, vice president, marketing, Ply Gem. "As a leading manufacturer and supplier of building products, it's our responsibility and pleasure to continue to partner with Habitat for Humanity for this wonderful cause and to provide a low-maintenance, worry-free product for the new homeowners."

The Pineridge units will be approximately 1,030 sq. ft., with three bedrooms and one bath on the second floor, and a half-bath as well as kitchen and living spaces on the main level.

"Our partnership with Ply Gem is a model for the kinds of relationships we seek. By both donating and volunteering, the Ply Gem team is taking responsibility for getting involved and making the difference for the families who will be purchasing our Pineridge homes," said Bill Brunton, vice-president, marketing and external relations, Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta.
