

Lodging - US RevPAR +4.0% Y/Y Last Week; Miami > Atlanta Super Bowl impact

An above trend week led by luxury and independent hotels (helped by Super Bowl)

What's Incremental To Our View

Overall U.S. RevPAR was +4.0% Y/Y for the week ending 2/1/2020, per STR, stronger than the prior week's result of +0.3%. (2-year stacked RevPAR was +6.5% vs -0.4% in the prior week.) Independent hotels (about 1/3rd of the data set) were +8.3% y/y. Luxury (+7.4%) was the strongest chain scale for branded hotels; Midscale was the weakest at -1.2%. Upscale (+4.0%) performed in-line with the industry average; Upper Midscale (+1.9%) underperformed. Within Upper Upscale & Luxury class hotels, Group (+3.4% vs. -1.3% prior week) was softer than Transient (+6.7% vs. +5.2% prior week).

Last week's RevPAR headline result was materially impacted by the shift of the Super Bowl to Miami from Atlanta. Miami RevPAR was +68.4%, entirely rate driven as Miami is already in high season in February. Comparatively, Atlanta RevPAR was -41.1% (almost all rate driven). Importantly, Miami ADRs are significantly higher than Atlanta in clean-comp years (2019 ADR Atlanta: $124; 2018 ADR Miami: $239).

- The chain scales had very disparate performance. We assume that Miami's greater mix of Luxury and independent hotels vs. Atlanta (heavy Upper Upscale presence especially in Downtown Atlanta) impacted the chain scale results. Luxury RevPAR exceeded Upper Upscale by 570 bps.
- In our Miami field trip note, we forecasted that Miami ADR for the Friday-Sunday of Super Bowl would be lower than the +210% market average for Super Bowl weekends over the last nine years (HotelNewsNow). Given that Miami ADR for Friday and Saturday were +140.2% and +142.5%, respectively, we assume that even a strong bump on Sunday would support our prior assumptions given general weekend leisure strength in clean comp weeks. That being said, we assume Miami hotels still did very well given existent high occupancies, ADR growth flowing to profits, and expensive packaging for F&B and other revenues/parties/etc. that we assume were commonplace among higher-rated hotels in South Florida (especially Miami Beach). The non-rooms revenues are not reflected in the STR results but we expect this tailwind will be noted in REITS with market exposure.

A variety of other markets had relatively strong results -- more occupancy than rate driven.

We assume the benefit is more transient corporate than leisure or group focused as much of the strength was in mid-week occupancy. We do not consider the strong individual business travel trends last week to be indicative of a trend.

What's Inside

Weekly STR results and analysis

• Just as importantly, we see no material impact in last week's results from the coronavirus news.

For the month of January, we estimate that full-service branded domestic hotels (the typical Hilton [HLT, Hold], Hyatt [H, Hold], or Marriott [MAR, Hold] hotel) will finish +1.5-2.5% (our prior estimate was +0.5-1.5%). We estimate that the overall industry will finish +1.5-2.5% (our prior estimate was +0-1%). Please note that reported monthly results include hotels that are not in the weekly data set.

Last week's RevPAR details:

- Luxury was the strongest chain scale: Upscale and Upper Midscale underperformed by 340 bps and 550 bps, respectively: Luxury RevPAR (+7.4%), Upper Upscale (+1.7%), Upscale (+4.0%), Upper Midscale (+1.9%), Midscale (-1.2%), and Economy (-0.9%). Independent hotels (+8.3%) outperformed the headline U.S. RevPAR.
- Within Upper Upscale & Luxury class hotels, Group underperformed Transient: Transient segment (individual business and leisure travelers) RevPAR was +6.7% (vs. +5.2% last week) and Group segment RevPAR was +3.4% (vs. -1.3% last week).
- Chicago was the strongest of the top five markets: Boston (-0.1%), Chicago (+13.8%), Los Angeles (+5.2%), NYC (-2.0%), and Washington, D.C. (+12.7%).
- Other relevant markets:
  - San Francisco was down (the market has a tough 1Q20 y/y group comp): RevPAR was -3.2% vs. -11.8% last week.
  - Florida markets were up (Super Bowl impact for Miami): Miami (+68.4% vs. +4.6% last week); Orlando (+8.1% vs. +4.0% last week). For more insights on the Miami market following management meetings and hotel tours in early January, please click on the attached link.

The lodging stocks: For the most part, we think it is difficult to get excited about lodging stocks in general but not much screams "pound-the-table short" either. We currently see more interesting stories in Vacation Ownership (Marriott Vacations (VAC, Buy), Wyndham Destinations (WYND, Buy), and Cruise lines (Norwegian (NCLH, Buy) & Royal Caribbean (RCL, Buy). For hotel REITS at the moment, the number one challenge is costs growing faster than revenues. That said, the good news for the hotel REITS is that we do not see much risk for valuation multiples to significantly contract from current levels; however, we continue to believe there will be gradual cuts to consensus estimates over the next year and 2021 same-store earnings will be lower than 2020's.

STRH Rating System for Equity Securities

SunTrust Robinson Humphrey (STRH) rates individual equities using a three-tiered system. Each stock is rated relative to the broader market (generally the S&P 500) over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated).

Buy (B) – the stock's total return is expected to outperform the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Hold (H) – the stock's total return is expected to perform in line with the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Sell (S) – the stock's total return is expected to underperform the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Not Rated (NR) – STRH does not have an investment rating or opinion on the stock

Coverage Suspended (CS) – indicates that STRH's rating and/or target price have been temporarily suspended due to applicable regulations and/or STRH Management discretion. The previously published rating and target price should not be relied upon.

STRH analysts have a price target on the stocks that they cover, unless otherwise indicated. The price target represents that analyst's expectation of where the stock will trade in the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated). If an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of STRH Research Management not to assign a target price; likewise certain stocks that trade under $5 may exhibit volatility whereby assigning a price target would be unhelpful to making an investment decision. As such, with Research Management's approval, an analyst may refrain from assigning a target to a sub-$5 stock.
