

Stacey Gearhart named VP/GM Raypak

Stacey Gearhart has been named as the new VP/GM of Raypak. She has worked at Rheem for nearly ten years, where she has gained increasing roles of responsibilities and leadership across several functions. Stacey is known for her exceptional leadership skills, particularly when it comes to guiding people through complicated change. She has mastered the empathy required to inspire her teams and understands the challenges faced by industry professionals. As the former VP of Product Management, Channel Marketing, Global Water at Rheem, Stacey has successfully developed and led global product, training, marketing and innovation strategies. Her passion for the customer and her experience at Rheem will be key to the success of Raypak's products and channels as they become more complex.

Stacey currently resides in the Atlanta area with her husband and two children, but will be relocating to the Oxnard, CA area this summer.
