ARE YOU PREPARED? SUPPLY CHAIN DISASTER SIMULATION EXERCISE

There's nothing fun about an actual disaster. But that doesn't mean learning how to deal with one can't be. Disasters can be overwhelming if your business isn't prepared. Join American Logistics Aid Network (ALAN) for an interactive, game-based session in which you'll play the role of an organization working hard to deliver food, water, and medicine to a community following a disruptive event. Race the clock to keep supplies moving and experience what it's like to confront many of the frustrating challenges that are common after disasters. You'll come away with a better understanding of how you and your business can improve outcomes for disaster survivors. Bring your smart phone or tablet to play along!

SESSION 2 - THE DIGITAL SUPPLY CHAIN JOURNEY: A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO GETTING STARTED

There is a lot of discussion today across all industries about digital transformation. It is a call to action for companies and their trading partners to move away from "the way we've always done things" toward more efficient, scalable, and smarter ways of working together in order to remain relevant and competitive in today's fast-changing and demanding business environment. But what does "digital transformation" mean exactly? Why is it imperative, especially for companies in the food industry? How do you get started and get buy-in from senior management and trading partners? What are the business benefits of digital transformation? In this presentation, Adrian will explore those questions and provide recommendations for how companies in the food industry can move up the digital transformation maturity curve.

Adrian Gonzalez
President at Adelante SCM

SESSION 3 - SHIPPER, RECEIVER AND CARRIER RELATIONSHIPS: CAN'T THIS JUST BE DONE DIGITALLY? NOT!

This session will be a discussion on how important relationships are in building an efficient logistics network. Each key supply chain participant should treat each other like trusted advisors, like a customer. Relationships matter, and with all of the pressures on transportation, nothing is more important than effective and efficient operations. Rick Blasgen, President and CEO of CSCMP with 25+ years of Supply Chain Leadership experience at Nabisco, Kraft and ConAgra will moderate a panel of industry executives. This panel will offer real examples of how to do it right, what works, and how to create trust between shippers, receivers and carriers.
