Dear Prevention Partners,

We invite you to participate in the Ministry of Labour's Occupational Health and Safety Strategy Consultations.

The five-year Occupational Health and Safety Strategy (Strategy) was completed on December 31, 2018.

We are now seeking your input for the development of the next provincial Occupational Health and Safety Strategy.

In Spring 2019, the Prevention Office will be carrying out public consultations through:

- In-person regional meetings hosted in Mississauga, Hamilton, London, Ottawa, Thunder Bay, Kingston and Sudbury; and
- An online survey open to all members of the public on the Government of Ontario Consultations Directory. In April 2019, you will receive a follow-up email with a link to participate in the online survey consultation.

Please click here to register for the session of your choosing. We recommend that you register as soon as possible before spots are filled.

The online survey and in-person discussions will be an opportunity to help shape the future direction of the OHS system, determine areas of focus and ensure that the Strategy reflects the needs of workers and businesses across the province.

Your knowledge and experience are valuable and are critical to transforming workplace health and safety across the province.

We hope to hear from you during our in-person meetings and through our online survey. If you have questions or comments, please email the ministry at ohsstrategy@ontario.ca.

Sincerely,

Ron Kelusky
