HuntsmanBuildingSolutions.com, the new website, provides an easy path for customers in the United States and Canada to explore the company’s offerings and is offered in both English and French.

“The launch of our new website combines, in an easily accessible way, product offers, skilled talent and deep resources of the two legacy spray foam companies Demilec and Icynene-Lapolla, which were acquired by Huntsman Corporation and combined to form Huntsman Building Solutions,” says Simon Baker, president of Huntsman Building Solutions. “Architects, builders, contractors, facility owners and homeowners are all now able to access all of our product solutions and resources in one easy-to-use site.”

Offering a simple, intuitive navigation, the website showcases all of Huntsman Building Solutions’ spray polyurethane foam insulation, spray polyurethane foam roofing, alternative spray foam and coatings solutions. The site’s Technical Library offers an easy search tool for finding all CC-ES evaluation reports, product data, technical data sheets, safety data sheets, application guidelines, warranties and installation statements.

“Interested visitors may also learn about Huntsman Building Solutions’ proactive sustainability initiatives, including our conversion of plastic PET waste, which is diverted from landfill and prevented from entering the world’s oceans, into high performance spray polyurethane foam,” adds Baker.
