

Introducing Our New Executive Director

After a long and extensive search, it is with great pleasure that the Board of Directors' introduces our new Executive Director, Brad Isaac.

Brad is a respected construction professional with 20 years construction experience in the ICI and Heavy Civil sector with extensive knowledge of contract law and labour relations obtained from his past positions as senior Estimator and Project Manager for well established and esteemed Northeastern Ontario construction employers. Prior to accepting the ED position, Brad established his reputation of integrity and forward thinking for 5 years as a Director of NOCA and contributing as a committee member on the Entertainment, Industry Promotion and Industry Fund Committees and also chaired our Membership Committee. Brad has served as 2nd Vice President and on the Executive Committee for the past year.

As Executive Director, Brad will be responsible for Membership, the development of business strategies and will be the focal point of relationships between the employers of the ICI and Heavy Civil Construction industry and all levels of government and the Civil trade unions.

Brad officially started his Executive Directors duties on July 13th and in the coming weeks and months will be visiting potential new and existing members and exploring how NOCA can build more value for its membership. He looks forward to working with Staff, Board, and NOCA members to explore new opportunities and face the challenges of the future.
