FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

The All-Fab Group of Winnipeg, Manitoba has acquired Pacific Homes and Pacific Truss of Cobble Hill, British Columbia as well as an associated company, Truline Truss in Creston, British Columbia.

The All-Fab Group currently manages nine operations under the All-Fab, Nu-Fab and Olympic brands. The All-Fab Group is the largest independent Building Solutions provider across Western Canada. PFM Capital Inc. of Regina, Saskatchewan is the principal shareholder of the All-Fab Group.

Pacific Homes manufactures high performance custom homes for Customers in Canada, USA and select International markets. Pacific Truss and its affiliate company, Truline Truss, provide roof and floor systems and panelized wall systems to the residential, commercial and agricultural building markets within British Columbia and Alberta. The Pacific and All-Fab teams share common values of progressive innovation, technical expertise, superior quality and service excellence.

“We are honoured to have the Pacific team join with us,” stated Ed Richmond, President and CEO of the All-Fab Group, “Pacific has established an outstanding reputation for superior standards of craftsmanship in all that they do. This fits very well with our culture and their markets align well with our strategic objectives.”

Grant McKinnon, President of Pacific, added “I am confident that our membership within the All-Fab Group will enhance the performance of all operating businesses and allow us to achieve even greater strategic growth together.”

“PFM is very pleased to add the Pacific companies to the All-Fab Group portfolio,” commented Johanna Salloum, Partner and Director of Investments at PFM, “We are confident that the combined leadership talent of these two companies and their strategic plans establishes a strong foundation for further growth and value creation in the building solutions sector.”
